1ST INTERNATIONAL JOINT CONFERENCE FOR MEDICAL, PURE AND APPLIED SCIENCES "IJCPAS 2023"

The conference will give a chance for creating collaborative links between academics & professional practitioners & their workplaces to exchange & share their experiences on all aspects of pure & applied sciences

Where

Al-Farahidi University (AFU)

Al-Farahidi University is one of the largest Iraqi Universities which was established in Baghdad in 2012. The University includes (8) Faculties and despite its recent establishment, it was able, in a record period, to keep pace with the current academic programs in teaching and learning. It rises to the ranked of sober Universities and has entered the local and international rankings of Universities and organized a number of distinguished conferences and festivals in various scientific fields, making it a center for attracting students and researchers in scientific and humanitarian disciplines.

Al al-Bayt University (AABU)

Al al-Bayt University is a public university in Jordan. It is located on the city of Mafrq, 65 Kms to the north-east of the capital Amman. The University was established in 1993 to meet an urgent need for a new kind of university, combining the requirements of scientific methodology in teaching and research with the requirements of Muslim belief and clarity of vision on the other. The University includes (9) Faculties and runs 35 undergrad programs, 33 MA programs, and 2 PhD programs. The university ranks among the top ten universities in the Kingdom.

The Conference will take place in collaboration between 2 universities:

AL-Farahidi University and Al al-Bayt University.
