

Teaching type	Credit hours(4)	Architectural Design(3)	course number
face-to-face	pre-requisite 703222		703321
In this course, the integrated programming methods of the architectural project and how to achieve human needs in it through the design of two projects (public buildings) and medium complex programs for them on sites of a medium-installed nature, these buildings contain various and multiple functions, whether in a single building or a group of buildings, the focus is on exploring architectural solutions through systematic analysis and architectural translation of the design concept, based on the analytical conclusions at the different levels of the project, and also through understanding the circulation patterns and functional relationships, and dealing with the data of the social, psychological, behavioral and economic environment affecting on architectural design.			