

Teaching type	Credit hours(3)	Contemporary Architecture	course number
Blended	pre-requisite 703342		703343
This course is concerned with understanding the development of modern trends and theories in architecture and contemporary arts since the Industrial Revolution to the present time. It includes intellectual and ideological analysis of political, social, cultural, technical, and economic changes in architecture. In addition to introduce the architectural schools, important theories and pioneers of architecture in this period, with a review of examples for all cases and a study of similar influences in the Arab world.			