

Teaching type	Credit hours(3)	Theories of Urban Design	course number
Blended	pre-requisite 703322		703454
Introducing the student to the theories of urban design, the methods used in visual analysis and understanding urban spaces, understanding the personality and mental image of the place, and the social and economic influences on the morphological and typological formation (shape and pattern) of the city. Study of social services and infrastructure in the city and elicit planning standards, and measure the effectiveness of services from the reality of a field study of an existing urban area.			