

Teaching type	Credit hours(3)	Design Thinking	course number
Blended	pre-requisite 703343		703523
This course focuses on understanding the design process as a force that combines external form, function, movement, etc..., taking into account cultural and civilizational practices in light of the philosophical idea. The course includes reading, discussing and understanding research and projects related to design thinking theoretical and practical to know how designers think, how design was developed, and employed as a science in its own right.			