

Teaching type	Credit hours(3)	Introduction to Architectural Design (2)	course number
face-to-face	pre-requisite 703123		703122
The course aims to develop design skills, as it reviews the steps of the design process with a focus on the composition of form and the interaction between form and space, inclusion and spatial relationships with each other. It reviews matters related to space, form, and order, transforming it into a functional meaning, establishing it and linking it to the site, in addition to practicing the study and documentation of existing buildings. At the end of the course, the student designs a simplified building on one of the flat sites.
