

Overview of the Management Information Systems Program:

The Management Information Systems program focuses on preparing graduates who are capable of integrating information technology with administrative processes to support decision-making and improve organizational efficiency. It also equips them for administrative and leadership roles across various sectors.